C. Objective of Consultancy Services or Brief TOR

Consultancy Service to prepare the Master Action Plan for Implementation and Promotion of 5G in Vertical Sectors

A. Background

In order to make the telecommunications service reliable and easily available to the public, involve private sector as well in telecommunications service and to regularize and systematize such service, Nepal Telecommunications Authority (NTA) is established pursuant to Telecommunications Act, 1997 and Telecommunications Regulation, 1997 as an autonomous body. The act has given the responsibility to the Authority to carry out the research about the development and use of new technology in the field of Telecommunications.

5th generation mobile network (5G) enables a new kind of network that is designed to connect virtually everyone and everything together including machines, objects, and devices. It is well proven that telecommunications play a vital role in the overall development of the country. In this regard, it is necessary to encourage other sectors to maximize the use of 5G technology in order to increase their productivity and reduce the cost. The Authority has a study program under the budget for the identification and prioritization of potentially relevant sectors. The identification and prioritization of the potential sectors that can get benefit from the 5G technology and services is very crucial as well as utmost important.

B. Introduction

The earlier network generations (2G to 4G) were designed as one-size-fits-all, general-purpose connectivity platforms with limited differentiation capabilities in the form of Voice, Data and Internet. 5G networks are emerging not only as the foundation for advanced communication services, but also as the infrastructure supporting socio-economic development and driving industrial digital transformation. 5G technology is meant to deliver higher multi-Gbps peak data speeds, ultra-low latency, more reliability, massive network capacity, increased availability, and a more uniform user experience to more users.

5G equally aims for industrial communications in vertical sectors such as automotive, healthcare, manufacturing, energy, food and agriculture, city management, government, public transportation, media and more to help digitize the economy and contribute towards global digital transformation.

5G will serve a large portfolio of applications with various requirements ranging from high reliability to ultra-low latency going through high bandwidth and mobility enabling an ecosystem for technical and business innovation involving vertical markets. With more and more 5G networks up and running, and commercial 5G services now available in multiple markets, mobile operators are turning their attention to seeking out new business opportunities that can help deliver the best return on their investments and make the most of their new network capabilities. In this sense, developing and delivering specific 5G-enabled services that are tailored for enterprises in specific vertical sectors provide new opportunities to all the stakeholders.

The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, adopted by United Nations Member States in 2015, provides a shared blueprint for peace and prosperity for people and the planet, now and into the future. The agenda has 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Once everyone is connected, extraordinary progress can be achieved towards each and every one of the SDGs through emerging technologies such as the Internet of Things (IoT); Artificial Intelligence (AI); robotics; and data-driven innovation. Therefore, there emerges cross-cutting enabling role of ICTs for SDGs.

Digital Nepal Framework has identified One Nation, Eight Sectors and 80 Digital Initiatives to enable Nepal to harness its growth potential by leveraging disruptive technologies and driving socioeconomic growth. The key sectors acknowledged by the Framework are digital foundation, agriculture, health, education, urban infrastructure, energy, tourism and finance. The Framework recognizes Internet as the backbone of Digital Nepal initiative and connectivity for all is critical for the success of Digital Nepal program. It has recommended to take a lead in 5G, rather than be a follower to put Nepal at the forefront of ongoing digital transformation.

Numerous studies by international entities have identified many vertical sectors and prioritized them differently based on unique criteria. The ranking of the vertical sectors for 5G integration based on immediate impact may vary from country to country. Apart from the key players and large industries, some SMEs may also gain the benefits, where their technological achievements make a difference. Based on the socio-economic status, the sectors may get different priority of implementation as well. However, Nepal can set its own priority by analyzing present context, assessing future requirements and reviewing Digital Nepal Framework, SDGs, WSIS Action Lines, Connect 2030 Agendas, Industry 4.0 and other relevant documents. For the implementation and promotion of 5G in vertical sectors, it is recommended to prepare a Master Action Plan. A detailed study is necessary for achieving this objective. With this in mind, the Authority has decided to procure a Consultancy Service to conduct the detailed study and prepare a master action plan for effective implementation and promotion of 5G in Vertical Sectors.
